Third Series Library of Congress. Copyright Office, 1974 Dylan Thomas Walford Davies, 2014-04-15 This critical study covers the whole range of Dylan Thomas's writing both poetry and prose in an accessible appraisal of the work and achievement of a major and dynamic poet It interrelates the man and his national cultural background by defining in detail the Welshness of his poetic temperament and critical attitudes as both man and poet At the same time it illustrates

Thomas's wide knowledge of and impact on the long and varied tradition of poetry in English. In that connection it delineates and delimits Thomas's relationship to surrealism, compares and contrasts his work with that of other poets of the 1930s and 1940s and shows how its power survives his early death in 1953 in the decade of the Movement poets and beyond. The Renaissance of the Saints After Reform

Gina M. Di Salvo, 2023. In the first book length study of the English saint play across the Reformation divide this book recovers the surprisingly long theatrical life of the saints. It shows how saints in performance frequently diverged from religious narratives in the Middle Ages and also made a spectacular reappearance in the theatre of Shakespeare's time.

With All Thy Mind Robert P. Glick, 2006-06-01. The worship terrain has changed but a consensus has yet to emerge even about what worship is let alone how we should worship. Increasingly however people are hungry not just to know about God but to experience God with all they they are mind heart body and soul. Worship must engage all of the senses. Recalling the biblical and early church's witness regarding worship and denominational worship traditions Robert Glick examines the place of words songs sacraments and symbols in worship in light of what we now know about the complexities of the human brain. He also examines roadblocks to more balanced worship and identifies the characteristics of a well tempered worship service. Glick expresses how our understanding of the wonders of our God given brains can lead us to worship that is fuller richer and more truthful and thus more receptive to the Spirit.
