I.-VI., containing the contributions of Southey Robert Southey, 1803 Catalog of Copyright Entries. Third Series Library of Congress. Copyright Office, 1972 Reading America Elizabeth Boyle, 2009-03-26 This specially commissioned volume of essays offers a refreshing and unusual perspective on classic novels from the American literary canon Accessible to students scholars and the interested reader this engaging collection explores familiar novels through unfamiliar lenses and in so doing sheds light on surprising and previously overlooked aspects of each text Reading America presents a new approach to American literature by showcasing a cross section of recent research into previously untapped areas of interest Each chapter attempts to re-read classic American texts using new or unorthodox theoretical frameworks including such diverse topics as an Emersonian reading of Don DeLillo decoding Thomas Pynchon with eco-criticism and understanding Paul Auster's New York Trilogy by exploring the graphic novel version of City of Glass Other authors explored in this way include Henry James Truman Capote Ralph Ellison Toni Morrison Joyce Carol Oates and F. Scott Fitzgerald This type of approach widens the reader's knowledge of each well known text and encourages new critical evaluations of contemporary American literature. The collection moves through six large topic areas from Naturalism and an idea of the Great American Novel at the end of the nineteenth century through politics, sexuality, language and nature to a contemporary engagement with postmodernism. Each essay deals with its own particular subject and author but the full impact of each on the notion of the American novel as a phenomenon can only be understood when read in conjunction with the others. Of interest to both undergraduate and postgraduate students, Reading America would be a valuable asset to any American Studies or American Literature degree course and a useful companion to American History or Politics courses. The volume will also attract strong interest from established academics, especially those researching the fields of literature, critical theory, cultural history and politics.

When Morning Comes Robin Leanne Wiete, 1993 Mission Studies, 1915 Reading the World's Stories Annette Y. Goldsmith, Theo Heras, Susan Corapi, 2016-08-11. Reading the World's Stories is volume 5 in the Bridges to Understanding series of annotated international youth literature bibliographies sponsored by the United States Board on Books for Young People. USBY is the United States chapter of the International Board on Books for Young People (IBBY), a Switzerland-based nonprofit whose mission is to bring books and children together. The series promotes sharing international children's books as a way to facilitate intercultural understanding and meet new literary voices. This volume follows Children's Books from Other Countries (1998), The World through Children's Books (2002), Crossing Boundaries with Children's Books (2006) and Bridges to Understanding: Envisioning the World through Children's Books (2011) and acts as a companion book to the earlier titles. Centered around the theme of the importance of stories, the guide is a resource for discovering more recent global books that fit many reading tastes and educational needs for readers aged 0-18 years. Essays by storyteller Anne Pellowski, author Beverley Naidoo, and academic Marianne Martens offer a variety of perspectives on international youth literature. This latest installment in the series covers books published from 2010-2014 and includes English language imports as well as translations of children's and young adult literature first published outside of the United States. These books are supplemented by a smaller number of culturally appropriate books from the US to help fill in gaps from underrepresented countries. The organization of the guide is geographic by region and country. All of the more than 800 entries are recommended, and many of the books have won awards or achieved other recognition in their home countries. Forty children's book experts wrote the annotations. The entries are indexed by author, translator, illustrator, title, and subject. Back matter also includes international book awards, important organizations, and research collections, and a selected directory of publishers known for publishing books from other countries.
