

Welcome to 3rd Grade!

Dear Families,

You might be surprised to know that third grade is typically thought of as the most important year in a child's academic career. It's the year that students move from learning to read —decoding words using their knowledge of the alphabet—to reading to learn. Where academic performance and school expectations are concerned, big changes occur in third grade!

When children enter into 3rd grade, the level of work and expectation becomes much more challenging than what they experienced in previous grades. The reading passages get harder, the amount of writing gets longer, and the level of abstract thinking in mathematics increases.

As a parent, you can help your child lessen the increased stress of performing well at school by offering lots of encouragement. Praise the effort they put into learning a new concept, memorizing facts, or spending extra time to do an assignment well. Be sure to reassure your child that tests and grades do not necessarily determine future success. If your child faces difficulties, or even failure, help them see that these moments are all part of the learning process.

Target Tasks - I will not be giving traditional homework this year. Instead I will be assigning weekly target tasks. These will be a few different activities that students can choose between each week, and should be done with family. Students can choose to do one or all of the activities. Children come to school and do work all day. They shouldn't have to continue that work at home. Kids need to be kids. Target tasks will include stuff like: play a game, watch a movie, go for a walk, bake cookies etc. Tasks that prompt family time or utilize life long skills. If I feel there is something that students need extra practice on, additional practice may be sent home occasionally.

Reading Log - A reading log will be given to each student. This is not a traditional reading log that needs to be filled out nightly/weekly. I don't want students to feel obligated to read. Reading is important, but when forced, can make students steer away from it. I want my students to read because they want to, not because they have to. When a student decides to read, they will record the title and author of their chosen book, the date, how much time they spent reading, and a brief summary of what they read.

Our Classroom Is a Home - I have tried my best to make our classroom a welcoming environment. We have options for flexible seating and take non academic time throughout the day to rest our brains. I have implemented a "Zen Den" where students can go if they just need a little break or wish to be alone. In an effort to keep our classrooms clean, students may bring a pair of slippers or socks to wear in the classroom and may take their shoes off while in the classroom. No bare feet.

Ketchup (catch up) Folder - Each student will be given a Ketchup Folder. This is where any missed work or unfinished work will go. I never want my students to feel rushed, so if they don't finish an assignment, they can place it in their catch up folder to finish at a later time. Any work missed while absent will also be found in this folder.

I am here to work with you to make third grade the most successful year for your child!
