Thomas Ruff Zeitungsfotos Newspaper Photographs:

Newspaper Photographs Thomas Ruff, 2014 Thomas Ruff Thomas Ruff, 2003 Thomas Ruff has created a substantial photographic oeuvre in which he draws our attention to all fields of contemporary life: petit bourgeois homes, modernist and current architectural arts, the faces of our fellow human beings, outer space, studies of local neighborhoods by night, the news industry's non-stop invention of pictures. Photographs from German language newspapers reproduced and printed by Ruff with no words of explanation in order to find out what information was left when the picture was isolated from its function: our bodies and modifications in perception through the pictorial explosion on the Internet. Page 7 Digital Image Systems Claus Gunti, 2020-01-07 In Digital Image Systems Claus Gunti examines the antagonizing reactions to digital technologies in photography. While Thomas Ruff, Andreas Gursky and Jörg Sasse have gradually adopted digital imaging tools in the early 1990s, other photographers from the Düsseldorf School have remained faithful to film-based technologies. By evaluating the aesthetic and discursive preconditions of this situation and by extensively analyzing the digital work of these three photographers, this book shows that the digital turn in photography was anticipated by the conceptualization of images within systems and thus offers new perspectives for understanding the digital revolution. Thomas Ruff Régis Durand, Centre national de la photographie (France), 1997 Catalogue de l'exposition au Centre national de la photographie Paris 1997 Flash Art, 1991 Why pictures now Museum Moderner Kunst (Austria), 2006 Pandora's Box, 2016 Jan Dibbets dissenting and unashamedly biased Pandora's Box offers nothing less than a reinterpretation of the entire history of art photography, arguing that scientific photography was the realm where the medium's real innovations happened. Scientific photography encouraged a freer, more outgoing use of the medium, says Dibbets. The whole problem with photography is that it was invented at the wrong time. As Baudelaire so rightly pointed out, the first photographers were doing their best to imitate artists like Ingres and other realists. All this imitation blocked the process of emancipation. The result of Dibbets' alternative history is some 300 images with Nicéphore Niépce, Gustave Le Gray, J. M. W. Turner, Jules Marey and Edward Muybridge rubbing shoulders with photographers less well known but in Dibbets' view equally crucial. Their direct descendants are Karl Blossfeldt, Man Ray, Alexander Rodchenko, Alfred Stieglitz, Paul Strand and more recently Bruce Nauman. Augmented with quotations from Baudelaire, Le Gray and Alvin Langdon Coburn, Dibbets' book gives a fascinating and fresh take on the history of the medium. The Photographic Art Market, 2007 Softimage Ingrid Hoelzl, Remi Marie, 2015-09-01 With today's digital technology, the image is no longer a stable representation of the world but a programmable view of a database that is updated in real time. It no longer functions as a political and iconic representation but plays a vital role in synchronic data and data relationships. It is not only part of a program but it contains its own operating code: the image is a program in itself. Softimage aims to account for that new reality, taking readers on a journey that gradually undoes our unthinking reliance on the apparent solidity of the photographic image and building in its place an original and timely theorization of the digital.

image in all its complexity one that promises to spark debate within the evolving fields of image studies and software studies
