Man of Taste Rob King,2025-04-02 Radley Metzger was one of the foremost directors of adult film in America with credits including softcore titles like The Lickerish Quartet and the hardcore classic The Opening of Misty Beethoven After getting his start making arthouse trailers for Janus Films Metzger would go on to become among the most feted directors of the porno chic era of the 1970s working under the pseudonym Henry Paris In the process he produced a body of work that exposed the porous boundaries separating art cinema from adult film softcore from hardcore and good taste from bad Rob King uses Metzger's work to explore what taste means and how it works tracing the evolution of the adult film industry and the changing frontiers of cultural acceptability Man of Taste spans Metzger's entire life his early years in Manhattan's Washington Heights neighborhood his attempt to bring arthouse aesthetics to adult film in the 1960s his turn to pseudonymously directed hardcore movies in the 1970s and his final years which included making videos on homeopathic medicine Metzger's career King argues sheds light on how the distinction between the erotic and the pornographic is drawn and it offers an uncanny reflection of the ways American film culture transformed during these decades Lavishly illustrated with rare photos and publicity images this book paints a vivid picture of a filmmaker who channeled his artistic aspirations into some of the most disreputable movie genres of his day

The Many Facets of Diamonds Are Forever Oliver Buckton, 2019-03-13 Diamonds Are Forever the fourth James Bond novel by Ian Fleming published in 1956 is widely recognized as one of the most intriguing and original works in the 007 series With its exciting settings including West Africa Las Vegas and the horse racing center of Saratoga Springs the novel explores the thrilling themes of diamond smuggling gambling gangsters sex and espionage Moreover the novel is unique in being set outside the conventional Cold War milieu of other Fleming novels allowing readers to explore Fleming's views of America without reference to its Cold War antagonist the Soviet Union This collection of essays is the first to explore Fleming's novel in depth as well as delve into the remarkable 1971 film adaptation directed by Guy Hamilton who also directed Goldfinger and starring Sean Connery in his final official appearance as 007 Updating Fleming's novel for the post 1960s culture of sexual liberation and mass market consumerism Hamilton's film departs from the novel by introducing Ernst Stavro Blofeld the head of SPECTRE and James

Bond's nemesis as the arch villain. The ten original essays in this collection focus on diverse themes such as the central role of Tiffany Case, one of Fleming's most memorable Bond girls, in novel and film; Fleming's fascination with diamonds reflected in this novel's intertextual connections to the non-fiction book The Diamond Smugglers; the author's ambivalent relationship with American culture; the literary style of Diamonds Are Forever, including its generic status as a Hollywood novel; and the role of homosexuality in the novel and film versions of Diamonds Are Forever. Bringing together established Bond scholars and new emerging critics, this collection offers unique insight into one of the most influential works of modern popular culture, casting new light on the many facets of Diamonds Are Forever. Anthropological Controversies Gavin

Weston, Natalie Djohari, 2020-05-11 This book uses controversies as a gateway through which to explore the origins, ethics, key moments, and people in the history of anthropology. It draws on a variety of cases, including complicity in human zoos, Malinowski's diaries, and the Human Terrain System, to explore how anthropological controversies act as a driving force for change, how they offer a window into the history of and research practice in the discipline, and how they might frame wider debates, such as those around reflexivity, cultural relativism, and the politics of representation. The volume provokes discussion about research ethics and practice with tangible examples where gray areas are brought into sharp relief. The controversies examined in the book all involve moral or practical ambiguities that offer an opportunity for students to engage with the debate and the dilemmas faced by anthropologists, both in relation to the specific incidents covered and to the problems posed more generally due to the intimate and political implications of ethnographic research. American Ceramics, 1988

The answer is far from simple. Depending on the context, it might be a kingmaking ritual, a boy's game, a pact with the devil, a peccadillo, or a capital offense. As dangerous as it could be to be suspected by one's own neighbors of committing bestiality, medieval literature and art are full of often exhilarating, erotic interspecies encounters. In the end, this volume suggests that there is a zoophilic streak in all humans, the medievals as well as ourselves. Contributors are Crystal Beamer, Bailey Flannery, Katherine Leach, Marian E.
