Frase,2012-11-19 For most of the 20th Century sentencing purposes and procedures were virtually the same in all American jurisdictions The primary sentencing goal was rehabilitation to be accomplished mostly in prison To achieve this goal judges and parole boards were given broad discretionary powers In the 1970s legal scholars and critics began to question such unfettered discretion and to advocate for a system of prison as punishment not as moral reeducation Lawmakers began to experiment with mandatory penalties and other limits on sentencing discretion These changes broke the previously uniform standard of sentencing in America Today sentencing purposes and procedures vary wildly between different state and federal jurisdictions Our fragmented sentencing system has contributed to unprecedented increases in prison and jail inmate populations disproportionately affecting racial minorities and creating a staggering drain on state budgets The systems in most jurisdictions are disorganized expensive and unfair We need a new vision and a new way forward In Just Sentencing Richard S Frase offers a hybrid sentencing model that combines clearly stated normative principles with procedures that have proven successful in practice Frase advocates an expanded version of the theory of limiting retributivism recognizing desert based and other limits on sentence severity while accommodating crime control and other non retributive punishment purposes These principles are implemented with procedures based on the best state sentencing guidelines systems including mandatory resource and demographic impact assessments appellate review that preserves substantial trial court discretion and abolition of parole release discretion This book also shows how the core principles and procedures of the proposed model have been successfully implemented in several states and endorsed in model sentencing codes and standards America currently lacks a comprehensive understanding of the purposes and limits of punishment Just Sentencing offers us a cogent and urgently needed solution for the incoherent and unsustainable American sentencing system Paying for the Past Richard S. Frase,Julian V. Roberts,2019-07-15 Paying for the Past examines the neglected but critically important topic of sentence enhancements based on prior convictions in the United States Most sentenced offenders have a prior record and in many cases that record carries more weight at sentencing than the new crime being punished Drawing on empirical data and rules from a number of jurisdictions Richard S Frase and Julian V Roberts assess the use of prior record enhancements their justification and how they contribute to racial disparities and mass incarceration Introduction to Addictive Behaviors, Fourth Edition Dennis L. Thombs,Cynthia J. Osborn,2013-07-08 This book has been replaced by Introduction to Addictive Behaviors Fifth Edition ISBN 978 1 4625 3922 2 Introduction to Criminal Justice Kenneth J. Beware Euphoria George Fisher,2024 George Fisher seeks the moral roots of America s antidrug regime and challenges claims that early antidrug laws arose from racial animus Those moral roots trace to early Christian sexual strictures which later influenced Puritan condemnations of drunkenness and ultimately shaped the early American drug war Early laws against opium dens cocaine and cannabis rarely rose from racial strife but sprang from the traditional moral censure of intoxication and perceived threats to respectable white women and youth The book closes with an examination of cannabis legalization driven in part by the movement for racial justice
