

The Water Cycle

The water cycle is the way that water moves from the Earth's surface to the air and back again. It involves four main processes:

Condensation: This is when water vapor in the air cools down and turns back into tiny droplets, forming clouds.

Precipitation: This is when the water droplets in the clouds get big enough and heavy enough to fall back to the ground as rain, snow, hail, or sleet.

Transpiration: This is when plants release water vapor into the air through tiny openings in their leaves, called stomata.

Evaporation: This is when the sun heats up water in rivers, lakes, and oceans, turning it into water vapor.

In the water cycle, water is constantly moving and changing form. The water cycle helps to provide fresh water for plants and animals to drink, and it helps to regulate the Earth's temperature by distributing heat energy.
