Transboundary Waters, Infrastructure Development and Public Private Partnership Richard Kyle Paisley,Riley T. Denoon,Theressa Etmanski,Patrick Weiler,2017-11-06 Public Private Partnerships PPPs have increasingly emerged as a valuable mechanism for drawing in investment and expertise from the private sector to meet public infrastructure needs PPPs involving transboundary international waters require particular attention given their huge potential for social and environmental impact Transboundary Waters Infrastructure Development and Public Private Partnership examines what

PPPs are and how they function in the context of transboundary waters It explains how environmental and social safeguards operate in relation to PPPs and transboundary waters in light of the Nam Theun 2 and the Xayaburi Hydroelectric Power projects in Laos PDR Finally it draws important lessons from their contractual arrangements costs financing and risk mitigation that are relevant to PPPs in other transboundary waters matters Ecohydrology in a Changing Environment Shavkat Kenjabaev,2014-11-25 The complex of ecological problems in Central Asia especially in Uzbekistan is linked to rapid ongoing demographic and economic processes However geographical location has its own peculiarity Aridity of the climate in Uzbekistan makes water resources as main limiting factor for sustainable economic development Chub et al 1998 RECCA 2011 Annual precipitation ranging from 80 200 mm in plain to 300 400 mm in foothills and 600 800 mm in mountain rangelands Chub 2007 is considerably lower than the evaporation demand of atmosphere FAO IPTRID et al 2004 Thus agriculture accounting about 90% withdrawal of total available water resources in Uzbekistan is impossible without irrigation Qadir et al 2009 Moreover agricultural production is highly vulnerable to climate change Lioubimtseva Henebry 2009 High fluctuation of precipitation and temperature increase may influence land use in irrigated lands create difficulties in water management at regional and local scales and increase competition of scarce water resources among water users in various sectors Energy Abstracts for Policy Analysis ,1989 Urbanization and the Environment in Developing Countries ,1990

Enhancing Participation and Governance in Water Resources Management Libor Jansky,Juha I. Uitto,2005 The United Nations estimates that more than 2 billion people in over 40 countries are negatively affected by water shortages Increasing demand for water has been identified as one of four major factors that will threaten human and ecological health over the next generation As public health development economy and nature suffer ensuring access to clean water is rising towards the top of government agendas Water resources management is the aggregate of policies and activities used to provide clean water to meet human needs across sectors and jurisdictions and to sustain the water related ecological systems upon which we depend Knowledge that is crucial for water management is distributed across governments non governmental organizations and the water users themselves In most circumstances water management aims to address the interests of and integrate usage across hydrologically meaningful units such as watersheds Some management aspects however such as transboundary flows across multiple basins and inter basin water transfers via channels or virtual water may necessitate a broader geographical scope Public participation aims actively to increase attention to and inclusion of the interests of those who are usually marginalized e g politically disenfranchised minorities or poor people indirectly affected by water management In this book the authors identify successful mechanisms approaches and practices for promoting public involvement in water resources management including both conventional approaches and those based on information technology Planning for Resilient Small and Medium-Sized Cities in Ghana Stephen Kofi Diko,Seth Asare Okyere,Stephen Leonard Mensah,Louis Kusi Frimpong,2025-09-10 Planning for Resilient Small and Medium Sized Cities in Ghana explores the resilience and planning dynamics and complexities of rapid urban transitions in Ghana's small and medium sized cities SMCs and their implications for Africa and the Global South The book argues that Ghana's urban future may have more to do with the steady growth of SMCs where urban consolidation is gradually taking a foothold Recognizing that Ghana's primary cities are well known to be socio ecological hotspots of risk reactive urban planning and entrenched inequalities of alarming proportions this book asks would SMCs follow these troubling realities and trajectories in large cities or leapfrog to resilient futures that work for all Through a range of interdisciplinary perspectives the contributions emphasize the need for integrated planning strategies to navigate socio ecological challenges and opportunities that SMCs face in terms of infrastructure governance and climate resilience By centering overlooked and understudied SMCs in Ghana's urban scholarship this book realigns resilience planning to the spaces and places emerging as the frontiers of socio ecological crises It will be of interest to students and researchers of city and regional planning urban studies geography environmental studies and science public policy development studies and public health as well as urban planners community development practitioners geographers environmental disaster and resilient personnel and policymakers
