Ray, Xinli Zhou, 2024-12-24 As one of the primary staple crops wheat feeds around 35% of the world's population playing a crucial role in ensuring global food security Wheat production faces numerous threats among which pests and diseases cause an estimated 10% 16% loss of global wheat yield Fortunately some wheat and its related species carry genes that allow for resistance to one or more diseases during the growing period How to identify locate and clone these resistance genes is one of the important keys to rapid and effective wheat breeding for disease resistant varieties The utilization of excellent germplasm resources and the cultivation of new varieties cannot be separated from the development of key technologies Recent innovations in genomic tools have made it possible to edit the susceptible genes in crops opening up new opportunities in molecular breeding for disease resistant varieties Meanwhile further development of crop variety identification and screening systems to achieve disease resistant variety isolation and evaluation in a high precision high sensitivity and high throughput manner can provide effective technical support for accelerating disease resistant wheat breeding The Imperial Network in Ancient China Maxim Korolkov, 2021-11-18 This book examines the emergence of imperial state in East Asia during the period ca 400 BCE 200 CE as a network based process showing how the geography of early interregional contacts south of the Yangzi River informed the directions of Sinitic state expansion Drawing from an extensive collection of sources including transmitted textual records archaeological evidence excavated legal manuscripts and archival documents from Liye this book demonstrates the breadth of human and material resources available to the empire builders of an early imperial network throughout southern East Asia from institutions and infrastructures to the relationships that facilitated circulation This network is shown to have been essential to the consolidation of Sinitic imperial rule in the sub tropical zone south of the Yangzi against formidable environmental epidemiological and logistical odds This is also the first study to explore how the interplay between an imperial network and alternative frameworks of long distance interaction in ancient East Asia shaped the political economic trajectory of the Sinitic world and its involvement in Eurasian globalization Contributing to debates around imperial state formation the applicability of world system models and the comparative study of empires The Imperial Network in Ancient China will be of significant interest to students and scholars of East Asian studies archaeology and
