Undp Report On Poverty:

UNDP Poverty Report, 1998 Gender, Generation and Poverty Sylvia H. Chant, 2007-01-01 The feminisation of poverty is viewed as a global trend and of particular concern in developing regions Yet although popularisation of the term may have raised women s visibility in development discourses and gone some way to en gender policies for poverty reduction the construct is only weakly substantiated This work covers this topic Human Development Report 1997 ,

Overcoming Human Poverty , The SAGE Encyclopedia of World Poverty Mehmet Odekon, 2015-06-15 The SAGE Encyclopedia of World Poverty Second Edition addresses the persistence of poverty across the globe while updating and expanding the landmark work Encyclopedia of World Poverty originally published in 2006 prior to the economic calamities of 2008 For instance while continued high rates of income inequality might be unsurprising in developing countries such as Mexico the Organization of Economic Co operation and Development OECD reported in May 2013 even countries with historically low levels of income inequality have experienced significant increases over the past decade including Denmark Sweden and Germany The U N and the World Bank also emphasize the persistent nature of the problem It is not all bad news In March 2013 the Guardian newspaper reported Some of the poorest people in the world are becoming significantly less poor according to a groundbreaking academic study which has taken a new approach to measuring deprivation The report by Oxford University s poverty and human development initiative predicts that countries among the most impoverished in the world could see acute poverty eradicated within 20 years if they continue at present rates On the other hand the U N says environmental threats from climate change could push billions more into extreme poverty in coming decades All of these points lead to the need for a revised updated and expanded edition of the Encyclopedia of World Poverty Key Features 775 evaluated and updated and 175 entirely new entries New Reader s Guide categories Signed articles with cross references Further Readings will be accompanied by pedagogical elements Updated Chronology Resource Guide Glossary and thorough new Index The SAGE Encyclopedia of World Poverty Second Edition is a dependable source for students and researchers who are researching world poverty making it a must have reference for all academic libraries Regional Dimensions of Human Development in India and South Africa Utsav Kumar Singh, 2024-07-29 This book offers a comparative study of the progress made by two regional economies with many similarities India and South Africa in pursuit of human development by applying Sustainable Development Goals SDGs In this effort book traverses the stages in public policy from planning to implementation and from reach to range in pursuit of inclusive growth and well being for all The book includes cross national qualitative as well as quantitative studies and deeper analyses of India and South Africa in respect of long term development goals This book attempted to solve the following puzzle despite the stupendous growth rate why is India s performance lower than South Africa s in terms of human development indicators This book addresses this puzzle by drawing attention to welfare approaches These two countries have unique federal structures that uphold the unbalanced states together and this book argues that uneven development challenges need asymmetric strategies contrary to the axiom that the SDGs are indivisible Further advancement of India and South Africa depends on transforming their quantity large youth population into quality human capital Both countries are also striving to create platforms to unleash human potential which is critically examined

Exclusion and Poverty in India and Central Asia Chittaranjan Senapati, 2016-09-09 The early years of 1990s economic reform and change has neglected social sectors both in India and Central Asia As a result poverty has also increased in India and Central Asian countries The economic political and social situation has worsened in all Central Asian states due to transition from command economy to market economy The early 1990s political decision has been dominated by a narrowly conceived version of economic policy for both India and Central Asia As a result the quality and the structure of social protection changed in a negative way Indeed in some cases the pursuit of a strict economic orthodoxy has left various sections of the community marginalized and alienated Both the societies confront a number of challenges that is as profound as the economic changes of the past The process of globalization and technical change has influenced economy and society in complex ways including raising expectations of consumption and remuneration for skilled knowledge workers creating greater demand for some information skills and services causing unemployment amongst those with few qualifications and destabilizing some traditional ways of life and increasing social exclusion. It detaches groups and individuals from social relations and institutions and prevents them from full participation in the normal activities of the society. In India and Central Asia, communities face social exclusion on the basis of their identity as ethnic groups, socio-economic groups, religious community and gender. Inclusive development therefore is essential and it should be the top priority in development programs of India and Central Asia. Research in this area has not been touched upon so far. Since Central Asian countries are relatively new and trying to establish their democratic institutions, this piece of work will be helpful for their nation building processes. So far as the mutual benefit for both the regions is concerned, India is an old democracy and its inclusive policy can be lessons for Central Asian countries. On the other hand, the experience of Central Asia's policy implementation can be a lesson for India. This piece of work has potential impulses to policy makers, academicians and researchers of these five Central Asian countries and India. This work can make a distinction than the conventional researcher in India by focusing on development studies, social exclusion, inclusive policies and comparative studies in international developments. Key words: social exclusion, poverty, deprivation, development, diversity, India, Central Asia, Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan, Tajikistan, Turkmenistan and Uzbekistan.
