Afropolitanism and the Novel Ashleigh Harris, 2019-08-09 The place of the novel as a literary form in Africa is contested Its colonial origins and its unaffordability for most Africans make it a bad fit for the continent yet it was also central to the creation of most postcolonial African national literary canons These bipolar traditions remain unresolved in recent debates about Afropolitanism and the novel in Africa today This book extends this debate arguing that Africa's de-realization in global representation and the global economy is reflected in the African novel becoming dominated by Afropolitan rather than African aesthetics styles and forms Drawing on close readings of a variety of major African novels of the 2000s the volume traces the tensions between the novel s complicity with and resistance to such de realization The book argues that current trends and experiments in African non realist genres such as science fiction magical and animist realism Afro futurism and speculative environmentalism are the result of a preoccupation with such de realization The volume is a significant exploration into literary form and its social philosophical political and economic underpinnings It will be a must read for scholars students and researchers of African literature politics philosophy and culture studies

Of Books, Barns, and Boardrooms Ellyn Lyle, 2017-09-12 Of Books Barns and Boardrooms Exploring Praxis through Reflexive Inquiry is an engaging and accessible book that is at once scholarly and personal Ellyn Lyle explores how self intersects with pedagogy and education in three separate but connected contexts formal education horse training joining up and workplace learning She begins with a narrative of how she learned about reflexive inquiry from that foundation she questions how educational systems can both debilitate and inspire using her own life story and explaining how theories relate to practice In so doing Lyle is informative and invitational providing a model for educators to problematize their own contexts Most interesting is how she uses the concept of joining up not training when exploring her work with horses This transferable concept requires educators and learners to communicate build reciprocal relationships work towards understanding engage in meaning making and interact with others through mutual respect Educators in all contexts would benefit from reading this book and I will be recommending it to my students Nancy Taber Brock University

Ellyn Lyle uses the successful deep communication with horses a process called Join Up as a lyrical and practical metaphor for negotiating learning in multiple contexts A fascinating personal story Of Books Barns and Boardrooms is also an invaluable guidebook for learning teaching and questioning for parents teachers students administrators and entrepreneurs I am urged to consider where learning and systems fail and also to celebrate how life is my classroom and all encounters my teachers I wish I had had these insights and inspiring analogies at hand when I was a university professor and president Elizabeth R Epperly Professor Emerita and Past President University of Prince Edward Island author of Power Notes Leadership by Analogy When I Join Up with Ellyn Lyle s philosophical inquiry I experience a process of deep trust and listening that she suggests is the basis of authentic learning Of Books Barns and Boardrooms about learners and learning is a critical and creative inquiry that questions and challenges practices that prevent learning It is a way of doing philosophy a method of re constructing narrative to examine some of the metaphors that shape and inform concepts biases and assumptions Using her understanding of join up to identify problems that prohibit growth the author constructs a compelling story of change and invites readers to do the same Anne Louise Brookes author of Feminist Pedagogy An Autobiographical Approach Ellyn Lyle takes readers on an inspirational journey celebrating learning and teaching as a shared and respectful partnership one that values the breadth of life s experiences as sources of knowledge Debra Manning Federation University
